

Syngman Rhee Foes Victorious in Korean Vote

By JOHN RODERICK

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—John M. Chang's Democrats, riding a wave of revulsion against the corrupt 12-year rule of Syngman Rhee's Liberal party, won a decisive victory today in South Korea's first free elections. Some violence erupted over the vote count.

Climaxing five years of bitter often futile opposition to the iron-handed Rhee regime, the Democrats seized control of the ruling House of Representatives in still incomplete but conclusive counting of 9.5 million ballots cast in Friday's election.

The Democrats won their first mandate to lead this Communist-encircled nation in balloting that was marred by postelection ballot-box burning, pitched battles between police and anti-Rhee students, and demonstrations against vote-counting irregularities in favor of winning Democrats.

Eight instances of violence clouded the otherwise peaceful voting Friday night. And today a company of soldiers had to be called out at Taejon, 100 miles south of Seoul, to quell 10,000 demonstrators who tried to break into the City Hall charging a fraudulent vote count to favor a Democratic candidate.

Still incomplete returns indicated the Democrats had captured at least 133 seats of the 233-seat lower house.

The Liberals who dominated the old Legislature by 80 votes were almost completely turned out of the new Assembly. By mid-afternoon only one, former Assemblyman Chum Hyung-sun, had won election under the Liberal banner, defeating a Democrat at Inje by a narrow margin.

The Democrats' closest rivals were the independents who were on the way to victory in 50 contests. Many of them, however, are pro-Democratic and will probably vote with them.

Air Program Plans Are Outlined

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today gave detailed plans for a multibillion-dollar space exploration program to potential contractors.

Among projects in the program estimated to cost between 12 and 15 billion dollars are:

1. The Apollo—intended to carry a crew of three men on a moon orbit after first space flight is accomplished in a Mercury capsule orbiting the earth.
2. The Ares—a satellite which would ride in the sky at the same speed as the earth's rotational timing. This is sometimes described as a stationary satellite.
3. The Prospector and Surveyor—moon exploration vehicles.
4. The Rebound—the name given to passive communications satellites from which radio and television signals could be bounced.

NASA officials outlined the programs at a meeting of industry representatives.

George M. Low, chief of manned space flight programs, told the group that the Apollo vehicle, to be launched by Saturn rockets, will be flexible enough to be capable of both flying around the moon—a step toward future manned landings on the moon—and serving as a manned laboratory orbiting the earth.

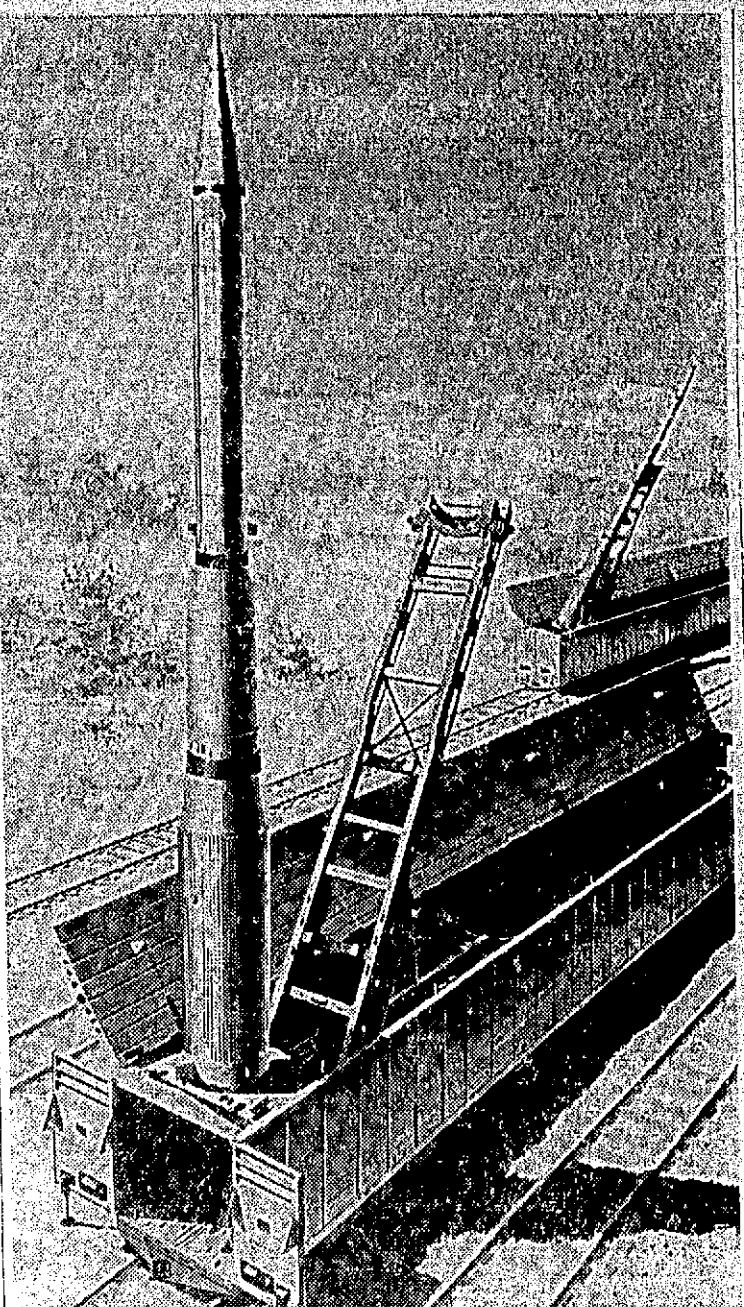

Low said Apollo probably will be built on the modular or building-block concept, with three basic parts:

1. A command center, which would house the crew during the launching and during re-entry to the earth's atmosphere.
2. A propulsion unit which would provide course corrections, place the craft into an orbit around the moon, eject it from that orbit, or maneuver it during earth orbits.
3. A mission unit, which could be changed for various flight missions.

Low said the Apollo program will be directed by the same group that is managing Project Mercury, aimed at an attempt to send a manned capsule orbiting the earth next year.

Weather

ARKANSAS — Clear to partly cloudy and hot Saturday and Sunday with isolated thundershowers. High 90s Saturday.

MISSILE MOBILITY—America's defense strength may one day be built around an on-the-move missile system, such as shown in drawing above. Sketch by Association of American Railroads depicts Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles being raised into firing position from their special railroad car carriers. In event of attack, this scene would be duplicated in hundreds of places along the nation's thousands of miles of track. Minuteman, a solid-fuel rocket with a range of 6,000 miles, is expected to move into the testing stage at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in the near future. First boxcar carrier will be ready by the end of this year.

Sanitation Workers Are Back on Job

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's uniformed sanitation men returned to work in force today, ending a two-day work stoppage that virtually halted street cleaning and garbage disposal.

The Department of Sanitation reported that all but a few of the 5,000 men due for the shift beginning at 7 a. m. reported for roll call. Scattered absences were due to sickness or similar causes.

The men went to work helping the midnight shift dispose of some 16,000 tons of garbage and other refuse that had accumulated since most of the force of 10,000 men quit work early Wednesday.

The walkout started as a protest against the breakdown of wage negotiations with city officials. The city said it would not resume negotiations until the men returned to work.

Back-to-work orders were given at a tumultuous union meeting at St. Nicholas Arena. Four thousand men jammed the hall, and 2,000 more milled around outside.

John J. Delury, head of the sanitation men's local of the Teamsters Union, told the members that the union negotiating committee had decided after a meeting with Mayor Robert F. Wagner to urge an end to the walkout so negotiations with the city could be resumed.

Final Rites for Dr. Rel Gray

RUSTON, La. (AP)—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Dr. Rel Gray, 49, former president of the Arkansas State Baptist Convention.

Dr. Gray was killed in an auto-truck collision at Ruston Wednesday.

Services will be held in the Temple Baptist Church, of which Dr. Gray was pastor. Burial will be at Warren, Ark.

Dr. Gray once served as pastor of churches in Rogers, Ark., and Helena, Ark. He came to Ruston about two years ago.

A native of Fordyce, he was prominent in Arkansas church activities for a number of years. He headed the Baptist Convention in 1956-57.

Wallace Herbert, 16, of Ruston, also was killed in the collision. The driver of the pickup truck, E. E. Williams of Ruston, was injured critically. Dr. Gray was a passenger in the truck.

Survivors of Dr. Gray include the widow, two sons, a daughter, and his mother, Mrs. Ethel Gray of Warren.

Burglar Is Stabbed With Bayonet

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Police said a 15-year-old Negro boy was stabbed with an Army bayonet last night while he was apparently trying to burglarize a house here.

The youth was in fair condition at a Little Rock hospital today.

Sheriff E. C. Dyke said Jim Hale, 19, took the bayonet with him when Mrs. Charles Wilson came to his house and told him she had seen an intruder in her home.

The sheriff said Hale and Mrs. Wilson went into her house and the stabbing followed.

Dyke gave this account: Mrs. Wilson was in her living room and her three children were asleep when the Negro boy entered their house through a kitchen window. Her husband, Charles Wilson, a former policeman, was away.

The boy took a knife from a kitchen cabinet. Mrs. Wilson went into an unoccupied bedroom about 11:30 and glimpsed him standing in a store room nearby. She said nothing, but turned and went to the house next door for help.

Officers said Hale got a National Guard bayonet and accompanied her. When they entered the bedroom, the boy was standing half-hidden among some clothes in a closet. As he started to move out, Hale thrust with the bayonet.

The boy was wounded in the stomach. He left the house and surrendered voluntarily to police.

Police Chief Tom Stroud said the boy would be charged with burglary. The boy's name was not disclosed, as Arkansas law prohibits use of a juvenile's name in such a case before he is charged.

The Wilson children — an 11-year-old boy and two girls, 9 and 4 — did not wake up during the incident.

Shirt Factory Coming to State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—William P. Rock, executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, says he expects some word next week on the location of a new shirt factory in Arkansas.

The Capital Shirt Corp. of New York has been checking into the possibilities of several Arkansas sites, including Cave City superior to the "liberal" Donnell Batesville, the Baxter-Marcum platform, the Republican County region centering around Colter and the De Queen-Nashville area.

Rock said yesterday, the AIDC had still another area in south Arkansas in mind if none of those proves feasible.

UN Has Very Sick Nation on Its Hands

Editor's note: Lynn Heinzerling, veteran Associated Press correspondent, has travelled thousands of miles during the past three years to get a first-hand picture of the African situation. He was on hand for the birth of the Congo republic and has watched every movement in the infant nation. Here is his expert analysis of its struggle for survival.

CONGO Interpretive BY LYNN HEINZERLING
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations has the sickliest nation it has ever nursed on its hands today.

Just a month old, the Congo is facing a crisis which without prompt remedial action, could cripple it permanently or even snuff out the remaining signs of life.

Born without proper prenatal care and abandoned by its sponsors after great provocation, it can only survive and prosper through a massive effort by the U.N. or individual countries.

The crisis will be reached in August.

The Congo was a Belgian colony which lived richly on cheap African labor, Belgian brains and money, vast mineral resources and great coffee, palm oil and rubber plantations.

The Belgian know-how has now largely disappeared because of the panic that followed the crude attempts of the Congolese to assert their new authority.

More than 60 per cent of the country's revenue came from the copper mining province of Katanga, which now wants to be independent or at least reduce the out of the central government on its profits.

This year's budget for the Congo amounted to 290 million dollars.

Under the Belgians, the Katanga met its expenses out of the huge tax revenues from the mining companies, principally the Great Union Miniere combine, and turned the surplus over to the central government.

Moise Tshombe, premier of Katanga province after being rejected by the United Nations on his demand for independence, now almost certainly will try to win a larger share of the rich mining revenues of Katanga.

Minerals normally provide 57 per cent of the Congo's export revenue. Agricultural products 43 per cent.

Arkansas' GOP Member Advanced

CHICAGO (AP)—Arkansas advanced to the senior posts today in the new Republican National Committee.

As it organizes for the coming years, the committee will have Wallace Townsend of Little Rock as its senior male member. He succeeds Berry W. Howard, veteran Negro committeeman from Mississippi, who retired.

Mrs. A. C. Rammel of Little Rock has been the ranking woman member of the committee for some time.

Both Mrs. Rammel and Townsend became committee members in 1928 and have served in their posts 32 years. This convention marks the ninth for each.

Mrs. Rammel has been on the important committee on arrangements for the past few conventions.

Townsend, as senior member of the committee, will call its sessions to order.

Arkansas' 16-vote delegation was on the winning side of every major convention decision.

It was on the Richard M. Nixon bandwagon early, unanimous, and never wavered; it backed the majority report on the platform, and it supported in advance Nixon's choice of a running mate, who turned out to be U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Townsend and other leaders of the committee hailed the Nixon-Lodge ticket as the strong one. They have said that possibilities of several Arkansas areas including Cave City superior to the "liberal" Donnell Batesville, the Baxter-Marcum platform, the Republican County region centering around Colter and the De Queen-Nashville area.

Rock said yesterday, the AIDC had still another area in south Arkansas in mind if none of those proves feasible.

Little Rock Police Turn Cowboys

One cow ambled to the grounds of an insurance company office building. There, it was caught and tied to a picket fence temporarily. Most passersby ignored the sight of the captive. Office girls at the Dixie Life & Accident Insurance Co. joked to newsmen that the animal on their lawn was a new policyholder.

The other animals also were rounded up.

Official Vote Count Is Made

Hempstead's Democratic Central Committee met Friday and made the official count of votes in Tuesday's primary election. There was no change from the unofficial count.

W. S. Atkins was re-elected chairman of the committee and Louis Crain was named again as secretary.

Mr. Atkins said for the first time in history there will be no runoff primary in this county. He commended officials for the manner in which the election was handled and attributed the speed to the splitting of the big Hope boxes. The group passed the following resolution:

WHEREAS, the manner in which elections are held to determine the will of the qualified voters of the County is a very important factor in maintaining good government, and,

WHEREAS, the men and women who served as officials at the recent Democratic Primary Election held in Hempstead County, Arkansas, did an excellent job in the way and manner in which conducted said election,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Hempstead County Democratic Central Committee, that the Committee commends, and tenders a vote of thanks to, each of said election officials for the courteous and efficient manner in which they conducted said election, and that a copy of this resolution be furnished the Hope Star of Hope, Arkansas for publication.

The above and foregoing resolution upon a motion by Committeeman Vance Marcum, seconded by Committeeman A. N. Rider and S. Diney was unanimously adopted, in a regular meeting assembled by the Hempstead County Democratic Central Committee, on the 29th day of July, 1960.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba refused to grant a private audience to the top Soviet diplomat in Washington, the Evening Star reported today.

The Star said Mikhail Smirnovsky, now heading the Soviet Embassy as chargé d'affaires, was kept waiting half an hour Thursday night at Blair House and finally was told the Premier did not wish to receive any callers.

Lumumba stayed at Blair House, the official guest house, while he was in Washington.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Western Union Telegraph Co. today notified the Federal Communications Commission it plans to increase its press message rates by an average 8 per cent, effective Aug. 26.

The company last week gave notice that its public message rates would be advanced by 8 per cent Aug. 17, as a part of a general advance in service charges designed to yield about $12,600,000 additional revenue annually.

Only 391 Soldiers Unaccounted for

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of American servicemen unaccounted for in the Korean War has been reduced by 61 to 391 on the basis of definite evidence of deaths, the Defense Department reported today.

The department said, as it has before, that there is no reliable evidence that any of those unaccounted for are still alive and in United States custody.

The Silk Industry Came to This Country Back in 1800, Northwest of Washington

By MARY ANITA LASETER

A silk industry in Arkansas? In the 1800's that was no fact, though it was on a small scale. Silk worms were actually raised on the leaves of white mulberry trees about two or three miles northwest of Washington in Hempstead County. This is believed to have been the only time that Arkansas had a silk "industry."

The property on which the silkworms were their pretty magic was owned by Dr. Nathan Douglas Smith, who practiced medicine in Washington during the Civil War. Many years later the doctor's great-granddaughter, Mrs. Russell M. Spicer of Magnolia, said that a company drilled for oil in the former mulberry orchard. That was in the early 1920's and proved to be no avail. It was the Penniger farm then.

What had prompted Dr. Smith to raise silkworms in the first place? It seems that he had 13 children, and he believed in keeping them busy. Though there was no juvenile courts then, neither were there any clubs or organizations for young people. So, the only solution was for individual adults to give individual youths "something to do."

The Smiths were kept busy occupied and out of mischief by raising silkworms, spinning the silk into thread, and weaving the thread into cloth. On the 4th of July tour of Washington this year visitors were able to see a dress and a scarf made from that silk.

They also raised their own sheep and made wool blankets and coverlets. One of these coverlets was shown on the tour this year, also. How did they achieve such pretty colors for their fabrics? That was done at home, too. This industrious family raised indigo, made walnut stain, and used sumac berries to attain three of their prettiest colors.

It isn't known today where the mulberry trees or the silkworms were obtained, but they both apparently thrived in Southwest Arkansas at one time. "Black gold" wasn't found in the old mulberry orchard, in later years but another kind of gold had been there in the 1800's.

A "gold" called "silk" was once found in Hempstead County, Arkansas.

Aide Says Castro Illness Not Serious

HAVANA (AP)—Despite increased speculation, a top aide of Prime Minister Fidel Castro said today he is not seriously ill.

The aide, who declined to be identified, said Castro is convalescing from minor surgery at his home in suburban Cojimar.

The aide denied reports that Defense Minister Raul Castro was summoned home from his state visit to the United Arab Republic because of his brother's illness.

Fireman Jailed for Train Chopping

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—A 62-year-old railroad fireman has been arrested on a charge of train chopping.

R. L. Barbee, an employee of the Cotton Belt Railroad, was accused by special agent L. K. Barney of the Kansas City Southern Railroad of cutting a KCS freight train in two.

Barney said the freight stopped in Shreveport so a trainman could throw a switch.

During the halt, Barbee maintained, Barbee uncoupled a portion of the train and the remainder was in the adjoining county before the engineer discovered he had left 17 cars and the caboose behind.

Barbee was released from jail under a $150 bond.

ArkLa to Buy Oklahoma Corp.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. has received authorization from the Power Commission to acquire Consolidated Gas Utilities Corp. of Oklahoma City.

The Consolidated gas system extends from the Texas panhandle through Oklahoma and Kansas. Ark-La's system is located in northern Louisiana, eastern Texas and southern and central Arkansas.

The merger previously had been approved by directors and stockholders of the two companies and by the regulatory agencies of the five states.

GOPs Move to Woo Weakest Campaign Link

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon moved today to forge new strength into what some of his strategists regard as his weakest campaign link—the anti-cultural Midwest.

Congress members, governors, GOP Convention delegates and plain farmers were summoned to confer with Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, on the problems the Republicans face in the midland area which has wandered away from its traditional Republicanism.

Nixon told a news conference Friday he is planning a major farm speech "very early in the campaign." He said he wants to develop a farm program that Republicans candidates for the House and Senate, as well as he, can run on successfully in November.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential nominee, has said he will lay an over-all farm bill before the Senate when it resumes its sessions August 1.

Nixon has bounded himself not to sponsor any legislation that may be offered or plugged by the Republicans in that session, he said, that, if he did, "obviously every thing that I suggest would immediately come under discussion as being politically influenced."

Nixon's campaign managers concede Nixon is at a disadvantage in an attempt to compete for use of the Senate as a political sounding board with Kennedy or his running mate, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Kennedy and Johnson have indicated they may move in the forthcoming session to "beat up" military appropriations. This would be aimed to support the Democratic convention that the Eisenhower administration has not been doing enough to keep ahead of the Soviets.

Kennedy also has promised to be active in other areas as that may affect the election outcome.

The Democratic nominees will be leading the fight for a wage-hour bill. He will be in the thick of things when the Senate votes on medical aid to the elderly.

As the Republican nominee, Nixon is tied to his chair as vice president and presiding officer of the Senate. He can't take any part in the debate, except for the possibility that some parliamentary point of order may come on which he can rule. He can't vote, unless the vote on some proposal results in a tie.

Denied a voice of his own in Congress or the kind of effective party support he needs to write any record of GOP accomplishment, Nixon is going to have to take advantage of every other avenue of publicity he can find.

One of these will be periodic news conferences. Nixon has shunned these in Washington for the last 7½ years on the grounds that he ought not to compete with Eisenhower in enunciating party policy.

But all of this has changed now that he has his party's top nomination and is officially its leader. As Eisenhower himself has said, "Nixon is free to speak his own opinions."

Nixon Turns to Campaign for President

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon left the triumph of convention hurrahs behind him today to plunge into a back-breaking presidential campaign he views as a turning point in history.

To the roaring acclaim of the expiring GOP convention, Nixon Thursday night accepted in what he called "the greatest moment of my life" the republican presidential nomination.

He pledged, if elected, to "build a better America" that "will not tolerate being pushed about by anybody, any place."

He welcomed aboard his "free world" ticket as a vice-presidential running mate towering Henry Cabot Lodge, United Nations ambassador and symbol of American resistance to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's challenge to the free world.

With his credo for the campaign laid down in a 50-minute acceptance address before a wildly cheering convention, the Republican presidential nominee plunged immediately into the practical business of shoring up Republican unity and pepping up the party workers.

He arranged to address the newly constituted GOP National Committee where his support was more solid than perhaps any other Republican candidate had been able to command in this century.

This over, Nixon planned to meet the press for the first time as the party nominee.

The vice president reserved the afternoon for meetings with party leaders. He had to postpone many of these earlier in the week in a combined effort with his back-packing new ally, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, for the kind of liberalized platform the two men wanted and got.

Not all of the state-by-state reports to Nixon and his associates carried good news for the drive he launched against Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Midwestern leaders, many of them disappointed because a man from their section was not chosen to run for vice president, were said to have been more pessimistic about GOP chances in November than those from some other sections.

Nat'l Guard Pilot Parachutes Safely

MAUSTON, Wis., (AP)—An Air National Guard pilot parachuted to safety near here yesterday when his photo-reconnaissance jet developed trouble. The plane crashed and exploded a short distance from where he landed.

First Lt. John L. Dixon, 29, Memphis, of the Tennessee Air National Guard, was on a routine mission from Volk Field near here in his RF-84-F plane when another pilot radioed him that smoke was pouring from his aircraft and advised him to bail out. Nixon ejected and landed safely.

Kept Children Locked Up Eleven Years

TCUMSEH, Ont. (AP)—A mother told police she kept three of her six children hidden indoors for 11 years to keep landlords and neighbors from learning she had such a large family.

Police said the teen-age children, two girls and a boy, are retarded in growth. Hospital officials who treated them after their case was discovered Thursday night said they are "certainly in bad shape."

Authorities identified the youngsters as the children of Shirley Leach by a previous marriage. The boy, Gordon Dickerson, 13, stands only 3 feet 11 inches. His sister, Connie, 16, is also undersized, and the younger sister, Glenda, 13, appears unable to walk or talk properly.

They were allowed the freedom of their two-story frame house that they shared with 15 cats. They slept in a single bed. They had a playroom with toys, a TV set and were well-clothed. An older sister, now married and away from home, taught them reading, spelling and arithmetic.

The three other children, Donna, 22; Carol, 20; and Donna Vernice, 12, all led normal lives with outside contacts but never disclosed the family secret.

Police said the mother and her husband appeared relieved when the case was discovered. The mother said she had been bothered about the situation for some time but did not know what to do about it.

It began when the mother moved with her second husband to a new home.

"That" Artemus said, "is the thing that first interested me in this case."

"But he elches," she objected. "Elching could be an almighty handy blind," said her father.

"I think," Artemus said gravely, "that at last they have made the mistake. We always hope for a mistake. I think someone lost his head."

"Could be," said Mr. Roche. "Jack was on her feet, eyes bright with determination. 'What are we waiting for?' she demanded. 'Let's go.'"

Come Home All Forgiveness

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen! I should be very happy to see you. I will be married two and a half years this fall and have a 17-month-old daughter. My husband is 26, very kind, has never started an argument, heat or raised his voice at me. He lets me go to my girl friends or any place else I want to go.

What I'm unhappy about is that I always start the arguments. I just sit there and say nothing. The more silent he is, the louder I yell. I hate to say it, but I have hit him. He didn't say a word, just looked at me.

What I get hurt about is that he will never sit and talk things out with me. He wants to come home, eat, watch TV and read in peace. I am home all day doing housework, taking care of the baby, and want to hear what he's done when he comes home. What do I get? No answer. Then I become a regular nagging, yelling wife. This has gone on for the two years we've been married. I know this is something I should conquer but who wants to when your husband won't help?

I hope you will publish this so that if there is anybody like me (which I hope in God's name there isn't), she as well as I can be helped by your advice.

(from Detroit to neighboring Windsor, Ont., in 1949. Because it was difficult to find housing for a large family, she told a landlord she had only three children. The other three she kept hidden.)

A year later the family moved to Tecumseh, about 25 miles from Windsor, and again claimed to have only three children.

Then, in 1953, the family bought a home. Although there now was no need to continue the subterfuge, police quoted Mrs. Leach, 38, as saying she was too embarrassed to tell her friends about the other three children. She also felt other children might make fun of them.

All six children were born to the mother during her previous marriage.

Police were called in when Gordon wandered away and went to a neighbor's home. The neighbor, Forest Richards, never having seen the boy before in the small town, called police.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—A St. Louis man was killed in a head-on, car-truck collision on highway 61, three miles north of Cape Girardeau, yesterday.

The victim was Charles Wilson Goddard, 56.

Nominees Pushing Campaign

By JOE HALL

CHICAGO (AP) — Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon drove his campaign for the presidency forward today without even a pause for breath.

Nixon reported he got only three hours' sleep, but he was at his campaigning without letup.

One of his early visits — he got there 20 minutes late — was at an open caucus of Texas and Georgia delegates. There he made an appeal for party unity. Then he launched into accounts of his own upbringing and that of his wife Pat, both born implications of a contrast with the upper-crust wealthy background of his Democratic opponent.

The Republican party's new top man related that Mrs. Nixon was the daughter of an itinerant miner, that her mother died of cancer when Mrs. Nixon was 12, that she was orphaned at 16 and worked her way through college to become a schoolteacher.

"When you have got that kind of a background, you must have what I call 'guts,'" Nixon asserted. He then told about his own father, a one-time streetcar motor-man and carpenter who, Nixon said, worked as a roughneck on all rigs to supplement the family's income from a six-acre lemon grove.

Nixon said his father used to joke, "This land must have oil in it because it ain't good for growing lemons."

The candidate said oil was found on the land after it had passed out of the family's hands, and

Walkout Threat on Cotton Ball

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A threatened walkout of some 400 players of the St. Louis Cardinals, who were playing the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday, threatened to interrupt the game.

General Superintendent J. H. Golden confirmed that there had been such a threat, but said that any possible action had been postponed.

He declined to say what the players would have been involved in, and what their possible grievances were or to give other details.

There was no indication from union sources of exact nature of the situation.

Golden said the matter was one for the railroad personnel office at Tyler, Tex.

The office referred a question to Cotton Ball President J. J. McKenzie, who could not be reached.

The Cotton Ball has shops and offices here.

"That's the only reason I didn't become a hick," he said.

As he has at sessions with other Southern delegations, Nixon suggested that while they may not be enthusiastic about some of the ideas of the party platform, they should take a look at the Democratic platform.

"We can't have the country turned the way they (the Democrats) did at Los Angeles," Nixon said.

He got his biggest round of applause when he promised to carry his campaign personally into Texas and Georgia.

The vice president then had his picture taken with all the delegates and alternates from the two states. He has now addressed the delegations from all 50 states.

After the Texas-Georgia walkout, Nixon paid a midday visit to the New York delegation.

Nixon drew applause when he told the delegation that in appointments and other matters affecting New York he would "let elected president work with and through Gov. Rockefeller and the people he designates."

In early stages of the campaign, Rockefeller had looked like a possible real rival to Nixon for the presidential nomination.

The vice president planned to chart the party's course for the next few months in a hard-hitting acceptance speech to the GOP convention tonight. He said the speech would tip his hand on some details of the campaign he will make against Kennedy. He has said repeatedly this week that White House bid will be one of the most intense ever waged.

Constitution Party Meets

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Constitution party delegates gathered today to nominate candidates for president and vice president.

Southern in origin and strongly conservative, the Constitution party espouses removal of all farm controls and repeal of the federal income tax. It is a strong supporter of states' rights.

In 1956, the party's presidential candidate, T. Coleman Andrews, former U. S. commissioner of internal revenue, polled 175,479 votes in 19 states. He didn't carry a single state or win an electoral vote.

A young pig can be called either a sholt or a piglet.

The Spanish census of 1799 said there were 388 people in Arkansas.

The U. S. Bureau of the Census figures California will surpass New York as the largest state in 1970.

ATLANTIC SALMON FISHING RETURNS

By A. J. McCLANE

Fishing Editor, Field & Stream

It's difficult to believe that the state of Maine can be serious, but according to a publicly released commission biologist are pleading for more anglers to venture down East and catch that noble gamefish, the Atlantic salmon.

Ten years ago there wasn't enough salmon in the entire state to fill a can, but now it appears that certain rivers such as the Machias have been attracting the silver migrants in good number. Until recently word didn't get out or nobody believed it because Maine now claims there aren't enough fishermen.

Last year approximately 800 adult salmon entered the Machias River, and only 53 were captured. Considering the last century of salmon depression, the biologists should be happy, as the uncaught fish are certainly building the runs of future years.

But the official pronouncement is that a scarcity of anglers won't provide evidence of the restoration program's success.

The logic of this escapes me, as 800 salmon is an inspiring but hardly substantial number. Not for the amount of pressure which can be exerted on a public salmon river.

Premature or not, the state deserves credit for what many observers felt was an impossible project. We haven't had Atlantic salmon fishing in the United States since the mid-1800's.

If you want to try your hand at the game you can head-quarter in the village of Machias. You can fish directly from town or use any of the trails leading down to the stream from U.S. 1 and All-Us-1.

The best way is to work the water by canoe and it can be rented. You may fish by wading at numerous points. You won't need a guide, although it's probably a good idea to hire one for a day or so.

Atlantic salmon can be caught on regular trout tackle and flies. I believe, however, that the rod should be on the heavy side, eight-and-a-half or nine feet long, weighing about six ounces. Standard salmon patterns on number two, four and eight hooks would be correct, but check for favorites.

These streams are all in the same general area.

DESTRUCTION?

Maybe not! For since time began, all human progress has been marked by symbols... the golden calf, the dragon, an olive bough. The greatest was the XP symbol used by the Greeks to denote followers of Christ. Later the Christian Cross was used by Constantine when he said, "By this sign, thou shalt conquer." Now, a new symbol appears over the world... a scientific object of the atomic age. It signals the awesome need for understanding and world cooperation if we are to avoid total destruction and reap atomic benefits. May Christians influence world leaders to accept it, and may it be dedicated to peace and good will. Let's keep our symbols, but remember the Cross. Then we can say with Constantine, "By this sign, we shall conquer."
